

Texas Health Resources Health Promoter Course
Faith Leader Letter of Support

Dear Faith Leader,

_____ has expressed interest in attending the Texas Health Resources Health Promoter Course.
(name of individual applying for training).

In the faith community setting, a health promoter coordinates health related activities to meet the needs of members and the community and includes consideration for the whole person, body, mind, and spirit. The purpose of this course is to equip participants with specialized knowledge to effectively promote health, healing, and wholeness in a faith community setting.

The course participants should:

- reflect personal spiritual maturity
- be knowledgeable about the spiritual beliefs and practices of the faith community
- be organized, flexible, a self-starter with good communication ability
- be dedicated to serving others and have a desire or calling to serve in health ministry.

Part of requirements for participation include:

A letter of support from the prospective health promoter's faith community leadership (i.e., clergy, rabbi, church council) verifying (1) their support of a health ministry program within the faith setting and (2) their support of this health promoter's participation in the course.

Below is a simple letter of support that you can submit, or you can write your own personal letter of support. Feel free to contact me if you have questions or need help.

Caryn Paulos, MSN, RN-BC, Sr. Director of Faith Community Nursing
