Charles Herrin, M.D.

Associate Professor of Pediatrics, Neonatologist
UT Southwestern Medical Center – Dallas, Texas

“Trisomy 18 in the NICU: Current Approaches to Complicated Family Centered Care”

- Review the historical approach to the medical care of trisomies.
 - Discuss the current work-up and prognosis of trisomy 18.
- Review the recent American Academy of Pediatrics care for children with trisomy 18 guidance clinical report.
 - Discuss tools for the ethical decision making for complex medical conditions in neonates focusing on a wholistic family centered approach.
 - Discuss interprofessional collaborative strategies to better provide primary palliative care to neonates with trisomy 18 and their families.

Target Audience: This interprofessional activity is designed for physicians and nurses in neonatology, pediatrics and obstetrics. We also invite respiratory therapists to attend and other allied health professionals.

Format: Didactic lecture with question-and-answer session
